The Charles Darwin-inspired debate over the Age of the Earth that pitted contemporary Physics against the theory and practice of contemporary Geology was intimately tied to recent unsettling projections on the thermodynamic fate of the universe. The leading voices in the debate were William Thomson, later Lord Kelvin, and Thomas Henry Huxley, Darwin's most able champion.

With this post we begin a monthly discussion of The Cosmic Doctrine by Dion Fortune, which I consider the most important work of 20th century occult philosophy. Climb in and fasten your belts; it's going to be a wild ride. As noted in earlier posts here, there are two widely available editions of The Cosmic

Mike, your comments are very clear to me and I believe you're on the right track with your questions and speculation. My current thoughts are that this reality is rapidly approaching something with steep challenges that we don't necessarily recognize (yet), and to those with more insights than the public generally have "reality-shifting (some variation of it) looks like the best Plan B.
